

King's Theatre, Hay-Market,
APRIL, 12th, 1792.

The Publick is most respectfully informed that Mr. PALMER, who Last Night entertained hopes of being able to perform This Evening in the Farce of The SWINDLERS, Sill continues too Indisposed to go upon the Stage. Mr. WHITFIELD has undertaken the Part, Since this Morning, and Mr. BADDELEY humbly hopes that the length of the Character will plead an excuse for any little inaccuracy in the Performance.
